

Please reconsider weakening the "NO Call" regulations at this time. Businesses with whom we do business surely can find some other way to contact prospective customers besides creating ill will by unwanted phone calls. Advertising their services is fine as long as it does not inconvenience me and interfere with my private time at home. The "No Call" list is working - don't try to fix it.